

STILL OPEN AND SAFE!

What does it mean when a childcare provider is in a red zone?

- Attendance is optional (as of October 1): You may keep your children at home without risk of losing your space (while continuing to pay your usual contribution).
- Despite the restrictions on entry into private residences, home childcare providers may continue to receive children.

In the event of an outbreak (positive test result at your childcare provider's)

The regional public health authorities will be contacted immediately to obtain detailed instructions. You will then be notified as soon as possible by your childcare provider.
